EAP050 Making Professor Ade Obayemi's lifework available to the world

The late Professor Ade Obayemi's lifetime collection of documents and correspondence lies in the Akodi Africa Museum he set up with his own funds at his home town in Iffe Ijuma, Kogi State, Nigeria. Professor Obayemi made some of the earliest archaeological explorations of northern Nigeria and became the Director General of Nigeria's National Commission for Museums and Monuments.

This pilot project was completed in October 2005, with a survey completed of the material in the museum and estimates made of the quantity of material worthy of listing and copying under a future major research project. This included some 950 unbound articles and 130 audio tapes of oral history, war songs and traditional music.
